

IN THE ABSTRACT:

Please delete the present abstract on file and replace it with the abstract on the attached sheet.

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Optical space transmission device including a light source for emitting a light beam modulated according to a signal to be transmitted, an optical system for sending out the light beam emitted from the light source as a transmission light beam with an angle of expansion, a temperature detector for detecting the internal temperature of the device, and control means for changing the angle of expansion of the transmission light beam as a function of the temperature detected by the temperature detector.